

WASHINGTON NEWS
CHOPPED UP FINEHOUSE INSISTS ON FOUR NEW BATTLESHIPS.

Sayers' Proposition to Accept the Senate Amendment to the Naval Appropriation Bill Is Defeated by a Vote of 141 to 81—Capital City Gossips.

Washington, May 6.—By a vote of 141 to 81 the house Tuesday afternoon refused to concur in the amendment passed by the senate cutting down the number of new battleships from four to two. This decisive majority of sixty in favor of the quartet of fighting machines is likely to be cut down considerably in case the senate should get its back up at all and insist on reducing the naval appropriations by the amount necessary to construct the two extra ships. The fight in the house was conducted nominally by Sayres of Texas, and chairman of the appropriations committee in the last house, assisted by Mr. Cannon, his successor. The present chairman made the point that at the rate at which appropriations had been made thus far a deficit for the coming fiscal year had been provided of at least $100,000,000. It would be impossible, he said, to enact any measure for the relief of the treasury, at least until the 4th of March, and unless there were an extra session not until after December, 1897. The opposition to the battleships in the house really is very slight.

There are a few who are at a loss to know where the money is to come from to pay for the ships. Besides these there are the usual collection of men who are opposed to the navy at all times, and do what they can to cripple it on every occasion. If the question of revenue were out of the way, the house would be more likely to stick out for six rather than two battleships, as proposed by the senate, for the members feel that after the belligerent attitude assumed early in the winter congress would be placed in a ridiculous position if it should fail to make provision for liberal addition to the navy.

Over in the senate the opposition to the battleships centers around Gorman and his personal grievances against Secretary Herbert. Back of that, however, there are many senators with a much more substantial basis for their position. They say that under ordinary circumstances with plenty of revenue they would be willing to vote the navy department every dollar asked for. With a present deficit, and a still larger one in prospect, they feel that it is the wiser course to cut down the appropriations for the navy and devote the money to coast defenses.

The senate amendment in opposition to the battleships was passed by a majority of four only, and in view of the fact that the house has now sustained its bill by a majority of sixty, it is likely the senate will recede.

PETITION FOR A DUTY ON WOOL.

Thirty-One Senators Sign a Request for an Adequate Tariff.

Washington, May 6.—Senator Chandler Tuesday circulated the following petition on the republican side of the chamber:

"To the senate committee on finance: The undersigned request that in case any bill relating to internal revenue or the tariff is considered by the senate at the present session the committee on finance will move and support the addition of a clause providing for an adequate duty on wool." The petition was signed by thirty-one senators as follows: Mitchell, of Oregon, Chandler, Squire, McBride, Lodge, Hale, Pritchard, Pettigrew, Hansborough, Frye, Davis, Brown, Perkins, Baker, Gear, Elkins, Shoup, Hawley, Wilson, Nelson, Gallinger, Warren, Clark, Burrows, Proctor, Sewell, Wetmore, Thurston and Cullom republicans, and Pfeffer and Butler populists.

TO ACCEPT MARQUETTE STATUE.

Congressman Cummings Ridicules the Opposition to a Work of Art.

Washington, May 6.—"We cannot accept the Pere Marquette statue a minute too soon to suit me," said Amos Cummings of New York, a member of the house committee on the library, "for in my judgment it is the finest work of art in the capitol building. All this talk about non-acceptance because of the fact that the great explorer is represented in his clerical habiliments is the veriest rubbish. It would be just as reasonable to insist upon the removal from the capitol of busts of Kosciusko and Pulaski and the picture of Daniel Carroll, all of whom were Roman Catholics and achieved distinction in their day and generation. When this matter comes before our committee no one will be more prompt or willing to vote to accept the gift of Wisconsin than myself, and I believe the other members of our committee feel the same way."

Shortage Alleged to Be $127,000.

Washington, May 6.—It is reported upon what is believed to be good authority, the expert accountant employed by the secretary of state has found a shortage of $127,000 in the trust funds account of F. J. Krickhofer, until recently the disbursing officer of the state department. This amount, together with the $12,000 shortage said to be found by the auditing officers of the treasury in Mr. Krickhofer's general account, brings the total up to $139,000.

GIRL CRUELLY WHIPPED.

Two "Sanctified Saints" Say They Punish by Order of God.

Allegan, Mich., May 6.—Officer Bensley, who went to the camping grounds of the "sanctified saints," near Grand Junction, for the purpose of arresting Charles Orr and Jeremiah Cole on the charge of starving and maltreating children, returned last night. He reported that Cole had disappeared and that Orr was in Indiana. From Clifford Lundy and Orr Strong, aged 15 and 17, he learned what he considers conclusive evidence of cruelty. They say:

"We saw the whipping of Eva Acres for denying a misdeed of which she was accused. Two women stripped her to her underwear. Cole took a whip in both hands and applied it with great force. We thought she would drop. Her 17-year-old sister pleaded in vain for mercy. Cruelty failing to bring the confession, she was made to kneel upon the altar and thank them for the whipping. In this she did not suit them, and was whipped again. Pike said it was ordered by God, but Cole confessed that the whipping was harder than ordered."

Mr. Bensley thinks arrests will be made soon. The "sanctified saints" are a peculiar sect, with some strength in the southwestern portion of the state. They claim to arrive at a more than human state of holiness and to be under the direct guidance of God. At their annual world's meeting men salute each other with kisses. They are very fervent in prayer, claim to cast out evil spirits and to perform miracles by prayer.

MAYOR THREATES ARREST.

Lively Row Between Roosevelt and Comptroller Fitch at New York.

New York, May 6.—Comptroller Fitch and President Roosevelt of the police board had a lively row at the meeting of the board of estimates Tuesday and were only stopped by the interference of Mayor Strong, who threatened to arrest them. Mr. Fitch is the only Tammany hall official left in the present New York city government and he has striven to make it as uncomfortable as possible for all reformers. He has obstructed the payments of moneys on the slightest pretext and his tilt with Commissioner Roosevelt was brought about by the comptroller's persistent refusal to pay policemen for their personal expenses in getting evidence against saloonkeepers for disobeying the Sunday liquor laws. The comptroller has withheld this money for months, though the board of estimates voted for him to pay it.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION.

Two Women and Two Children Fatal in Burned.

New York, May 6.—As the result of an explosion of a gasoline stove in a Brooklyn tenement-house two women and two children were so badly burned that they died soon afterward. Two other children were also seriously burned. The dead are:

MRS. REBECCA COHEN, 234 Johnson street.

CARL COHEN, aged 2 years.

SOLOMON COHEN, aged 3 years.

MRS. PASTARNEK, 234 Johnson street.

The explosion occurred in Mrs. Cohen's apartments while she was standing at the stove, and the burning fluid ignited her clothes, quickly enveloping her in flames. The terrified woman ran shrieking into the apartment, where they were found by the firemen, who had been sent to relieve the suffering woman. Her clothing was set on fire. Then both women ran into the hallway, where they were found by the firemen, who carried them to the street. They died a few minutes later.

To Restore Quackenbush to Rank.

Washington, May 6.—The senate committee on judiciary Monday reported favorably the bill restoring John N. Quackenbush to the rank of commander in the navy.

NITRATE KING DEAD
FROM THE STROKEAPOPLEXY ENDS THE LIFE OF
COL. NORTH.

He Was Overcome While at a Meeting in London of the Companies In Which He Was Interested—Other Foreign News Tersely Summed Up.

London, May 6.—Colonel John Thomas North, "the nitrate king," died suddenly in the offices of the nitrate company of which he was the head. He was presiding over a meeting of the directors in the rooms of the company in the Woolpack building when he fainted in his chair. His son, Captain North, was among those present at the time. He took his father in his arms and hastily sent out for medical aid. Two physicians arrived quickly, but their efforts were of no avail, and the suddenly stricken man died in his son's embrace. It is believed Colonel North's death was due to weak action of the heart, but this may not have been the cause. The officials of the company, for financial reasons, at first tried to deny the death of their chairman, and refused to give out any of the details concerning the sad occurrence. When the news became definitely known it made a great sensation in the world of finance and commerce, and it also caused much comment when it was announced in the lobby of the house of commons.

Colonel North had a marvelous career, which even London regarded with wonder. Born of the middle classes in the factory town of Leeds fifty-four years ago, and beginning life with £20 for capital, he died one of the richest men in the world. His town and country houses were palaces, surpassing in richness and splendor even the finest manors of the wealthiest of the nobility. He spent his money with kingly extravagance. It is believed that his yearly expenditures for living and entertainment were not less than £100,000, and his income from his vast and manifold properties is said to have been upward of £1,000,000. He was a commonplace boy, with a parish school education. His father was a coal merchant, who apprenticed his son to a millwright and engineer when the lad was only aged 15. In his daily life Colonel North was quick, energetic, decisive and impulsive. He made up his mind while others were asking questions. He was kind too, charitable, and held fellow well met with all sorts of people. On taking up his permanent residence in England he desired to get into society for the sake of his daughter and son. Other men would have sought an introduction through some easy source. Colonel North went to the fountain head and was sponsored by the Prince of Wales.

SETTLES WITH MRS. LANGTRY.

Union Bank of London Pays £10,000 for Jewels That Were Lost.

London, May 6.—Mrs. Langtry's action against the Union bank of London to recover $200,000, the value of jewelry deposited with the bank for safe keeping and which was delivered to an unknown person upon a forged order, has been settled. The case was to have been heard to-day in the Queen's Bench division of the High Court of Justice, Sir Henry Hawkins presiding. In anticipation of interesting developments, the courtroom was densely crowded.

Among the more notable persons present was Mrs. Henry Asquith, sister of Mrs. Henry M. Stanley.

Mrs. Langtry drove to court in the smartest of broughams and was beautifully dressed. She had a short consultation with her lawyers, and Sir Edward Clarke, Q. C., formerly solicitor-general, announced that judgement by agreement had been granted, the defendants paying Mrs. Langtry £10,000. The jewels, if recovered, remain her property; but if recovered beyond the value of £25,000 the excess goes to the bank to the extent of £10,000.

Robbed by Amateur Brigands.

Rome, May 6.—This city has been treated to a genuine old-time brigand episode, and the sufferers were the duke and duchess of Saxe-Meiningen. The duke and duchess, it appears, were traveling incognito in Italy and were returning, with a small suite, from paying a visit to the poet Woss. Near Fracti, about twelve miles from this city, their carriages were stopped in true brigand style by two masked men who leveled guns at the ducal party and demanded money or their lives. The duke threw them his purse, which only contained 55 lire (about $11), and the carriage was allowed to proceed.

Schmucker Gets the Money.

Columbus, Ohio, May 6.—The supreme court Tuesday rendered a decision in a case that has peculiar history. Five years ago Jacob Schmucker bought a farm belonging to the estate of Samuel Cadwallader, a miserly farmer, near Tiffin, Ohio. With the help of his hired hand he found, according to the latter, two pailsful of gold and silver money. Schmucker refused to give the servitor his share and he sued for it. This brought the find to the knowledge of the Cadwallader heirs, who sued for the treasure. The supreme court now awards it all to Schmucker, holding that no one proves a better right to it.

DEBATE ON WOMEN
AT THE MEETINGQUESTION PRECIPITATED IN METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Hold That Their Status in the Church Is Different From That of Men—Rev. G. Neely Leads the Anti-Slavery News Tersely Summed Up.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 6.—No sooner had Bishop Andrews called the general Methodist conference to order Tuesday morning than there was a slight out-cropping of the feeling between the clergy and laymen, in which the latter took the initiative. C. W. Bennett, of Cincinnati, presented a resolution providing for the appointment of a special committee to pass on all communications from the laymen, this committee to consist of one minister and one layman from each district. After a good deal of debate, in which Rev. Dr. Shier, of Detroit, expressed regret that any feeling existed between clergy and laymen, the resolution was adopted.

The deck was then cleared for action and the woman question was again precipitated. President Daniel Stevenson, of the Union College, Kentucky, started the fight by criticising the action of the bishops in deciding against the women in 1888. Rev. G. Neely led the fight to be one of law purely. He took up the question of the Bible argument and said it was true the Bible said men and women are one in Christ, but not in the general conference. He held that in the church the status of women is different from that of men. The question was a constitutional one and no one was to be admitted unless specifically mentioned.

WANT TO BECOME METHODISTS.

Father Kolaszewski and His Parishioners Ask to Be Admitted.

Cleveland, May 6.—A profound sensation has arisen in the Church of the Immaculate Heart of the Blessed Virgin Mary (Independent Catholic), which was organized in this city about three years ago, and has been presided over by Father A. F. Kolaszewski. Father Kolaszewski and his 3,000 Polish parishioners desire to ally themselves with the Methodist Episcopal church. Although Father Kolaszewski refuses to say anything whatever concerning the matter, the statement as to his desire to ally himself with the Methodist Episcopal church is verified by Chaplain C. C. McCabe, of the Methodist General conference. In speaking of the matter the chaplain said:

"Yes, it is true that the priest does desire to ally himself with the Methodist church. He not only wishes to come to the Methodist church, but the 3,000 Poles comprising his congregation as well. They do not believe in the infallibility of the pope and transubstantiation any longer. They are becoming more and more educated all the time, and as people are enlightened they do not believe in these fallacies. Many thousand people are going to join the Methodist church."

Father Kolaszewski, when questioned about the matter, said: "Nothing has been done in that matter yet and there is nothing to be said at this time. I prefer not to discuss it."

Helen Breiter's Long Sleep.

Saginaw, Mich., May 6.—Little Helen Breiter, the 4-year-old daughter of John Breiter, has been apparently asleep since Thursday night last. She has not opened her eyes but has answered "yes" and "no" to questions regarding her nourishment. She has been ill for five weeks from some brain affection. She shows no sign of emaciation.

WILL NAME M'KINLEY.

Gov. Bushnell Says Foraker Will Nominate the Ohio Candidate.

Springfield, O., May 6.—Gov. Bushnell, who was here Monday, furnished some information regarding the matter of presenting McKinley's name to the St. Louis convention.

"Foraker," he said, "will nominate McKinley, and the people will do the rest. The senator told me some time ago that McKinley had written him a letter, asking him to make the nominating speech. Foraker very promptly replied that it would give him pleasure to do so, and thus the matter was settled. All this happened about two weeks before the Ohio republican state convention.

"As to who will second the nomination, I don't know. I understand Senator Thurston of Nebraska will do it, but I don't know."

Her Clothing Caught Fire.

New York, May 6.—Mrs. A. L. Gladstone, 26 years old, who, with her husband, has been living in the St. George Hotel, was fatally burned in her apartment. She tried to save a lace curtain which had taken fire from an oil stove. Her clothing burned rapidly. Before help arrived her entire body was burned in a horrible manner and she died a few hours later.

REV. DR. T. A. PLATTS CALLED TO MILTON

WILL HAVE CHARGE OF THE S. D. B. CHURCH.

Both He and His Wife Are Former Residents, and Graduates of Milton College—Other News of the Village—Crops Grow Rapidly—County Happenings.

Milton, May 5—Rev. L. A. Platts, D. D., of Alfred, N. Y., has been called to the pastorate of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, in this village. Himself and wife are both old time residents and graduates of the college, in its academy days. Carload shipments from this station last week included five cars of live stock, shipped by Fetherston; one of hogs, by Vincent & Hassenger; four of tobacco, by Soverhill & Porter; and one by L. & M. F. Green. Rev. George R. Chambers and wife are among the late devotees of the wheel. Rev. Dr. Hodges, of Janesville, preached an excellent sermon at the Seventh-Day Baptist church Saturday morning. Mrs. Pullman, of Janesville, attended church at this place Saturday. Miss Lucy M. Hall returned from her winter's visit in Florida last Friday. R. Richardson spent Sunday at home. J. P. Towne, Esq., of Edgerton, transacted business here Saturday. Rev. W. H. Hollister, formerly a missionary to India, occupied the pulpit at the M. E. church Sunday. The base ball season opened at "Sunnyside" Sunday afternoon. W. B. Anderson, the Lake Mills tinner, and W. H. Cors, the Whitewater blacksmith, spent Sunday here. J. M. Whitehead, of Janesville, was in town on a political mission Monday. The Seventh Day Baptist church choir will give a colored folks concert at their church on Tuesday evening, May 12. An interesting and amusing program will be presented. President Whitford is spending the week in New York City.

NORTH JOHNSTOWN IN MOURNING.

Death of Mrs. Rice Causes Universal Sorrow—Other News Notes.

North Johnstown, May 9—A deep gloom of sadness has rested on this community since the death of Mrs. Katie Rice, wife of Frank Rice, which occurred Saturday, after an illness of only five days, of neuralgia, which at last went to her heart causing death.

Mrs. Rice was thirty years of age and was born and had always lived in this vicinity. Heartfelt sympathy is extended by all to the bereaved husband whose grief is almost unbearable, and the three motherless children, some of whom are so young as to hardly realize their loss. Mrs. Rice was converted and baptized at the time of the revival meetings last fall, and was a member of the W. C. T. U., where her full rich alto voice will be greatly missed. A very large concourse of people attended the funeral which was held at the church Monday afternoon, Rev. J. C. Steele, officiating. The casket, pulpit, platform and organ were bedecked with beautiful floral offerings, which attested in a small measure the loving esteem in which she was held. The appropriate and impressive song service was rendered by a quartette consisting of Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett, Elmer Bingham, and Miss Minta Howard. Mrs. Della Gray presided at the organ. The pall bearers were three Rice brothers, Clayton, Fern, and Ray, and a cousin, Ernest Wheeler of Beloit. Besides her husband and children she leaves a mother in very feeble health, an only brother and a very large circle of relatives and friends by whom she will be greatly mourned. The remains were tenderly laid to rest in the cemetery in this place. Miss Mame Ryle has been on the sick list the past week. Orrin Bennett's family of Janesville visited relatives here Saturday night and Sunday. Mrs. O. N. Bevens has been spending several days with her sister, Mrs. Clyde Price at Wauwaota. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Webb of Albany, Mrs. O. A. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Wheeler and Mrs. David Pollock of Beloit, Mr. and Mrs. John McLean of Whitewater. C. C. Carr's family and Harlan Cary of Janesville, attended the funeral of Mrs. Katie Rice Monday.

THE BARBERS' BALL A PLEASANT ONE

ANNUAL PARTY WAS MUCH ENJOYED.

About One Hundred Couples Attended and the Affair Was a Very Successful One From All Standpoints—The Names of Those Who Danced.

The second annual ball of the Janesville barber's union was given at the Armory last evening and was a most enjoyable affair. About one hundred couples attended and the party did not break up until one o'clock this morning. Smith's orchestra of five pieces furnished delightful music and the party was one of the most successful of the year. To the committee of arrangements much credit is due, it being composed of J. U. Fulton, H. M. Whittaker, J. B. Griffin and William Mason, while the floor committee consisted of J. U. Fulton, M. H. Whittaker, J. B. Griffin, Phil Ohlweiler and W. C. Kober. Among those present were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—Philip Ohlweiler, M. H. Whittaker, G. W. Jones, George Viney, E. W. Becker, William Dexter, J. Horn, J. W. Harvey, John Fulton, William Mason.

Wright-Paul.

A quiet but none the less happy wedding ceremony was performed at the Baptist church parsonage at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. Dr. Hodge, the contracting parties being Miss Vinnie May Paul, and Charles R. Wright. Miss Clara Belle Paul, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Delle I. Cannon was the best man. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Wright were driven to Milton overland, where they took the train for a wedding trip. On their return they will take up their residence on a farm a mile and a half northeast of the city, where they will be at home after Wednesday, May 20.

Both young people are well known in this city, the bride being the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Paul, and a most charming and lovable young lady. She has won many friends by the geniality and amiable nature and is deservedly popular among her acquaintances. The groom is the foreman at John Decker's tobacco warehouse, and is a young man for whom all have a good word. He is energetic, capable and honest—which means that his success in life is already assured.

By driving to Milton, Mr. and Mrs. Wright cheated the friends who had planned to shower them with rice and old shoes after the usual manner.

They gave it out that they would leave on the 4:40 train, but instead took the train at the college town, while the merry makers waited in vain for the wedding party to arrive at the depot.

Both young people are well known in this city, the bride being the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Paul, and a most charming and lovable young lady. She has won many friends by the geniality and amiable nature and is deservedly popular among her acquaintances. The groom is the foreman at John Decker's tobacco warehouse, and is a young man for whom all have a good word. He is energetic, capable and honest—which means that his success in life is already assured.

THEY ENJOYED A FINE TRIP.
Dr. and Mrs. Pember and Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney Are Home Again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sweeney and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Pember arrived home Monday evening, after a tour through California and other western states. They are enthusiastic concerning the unsurpassed hospitality and varied scenery of the Pacific slope. Although they thoroughly appreciated the beauties of the west, they still believe that Jamesville has its advantages. They visited Los Angeles, where Misses H. H. MacLean and Eliza Capelle were among the first to extend greetings. They also visited Santa Monica, where they witnessed Spanish tournament, and at Santa Barbara the annual beautiful flower carnival. They then passed on to Pasadena, where they met Miss Susie Jeffris, who is still sojourning in California. After gathering oranges on "Lucky Baldwin's" ranch they passed on to Redlands, and Riverside and beautiful Coronado, with a side excursion into Old Mexico, thence to San Diego, back to Los Angeles and Alameda, where they took electric cars on the Mount Lowe railroad for Echo Mountain.

The ascent of Mount Lowe was one of the features of the trip. They stayed all night on the mountain, and witnessed a special exhibit with the monster 3,000,000 candle power searchlight, the largest in the world; and afterward star-gazed at Lowe observatory with the eminent astronomer, Dr. Lewis Swift. Next morning, after a sojourn to the Alpine Tavern (over 5,000 feet above the sea.) They returned to Los Angeles, to witness La Fiesta. Thence to San Francisco, visiting the wonderful Sutro Baths, crossing on the bay, "doing" Chinatown, &c.; then off to Palo Alto to visit the Stanford University; onward to San Jose, Del Monte and Monterey, where still stand some of the guns at Fremont's old fort; Sunday attended mass at the old mission of San Carlos de Monterey. The mission was established by Padre Junipero Serra, in 1770. Onward still to Santa Cruz and the big trees, and back again to San Francisco. Then pointing noses homeward, they stopped long enough at Salt Lake City to visit Dr. and Mrs. St. John, and to view the sights and scenes thereabouts. From there they went to Glenwood Springs, Colorado Springs and Manitou, and up to the summit of Pike's Peak, over fourteen thousand feet above sea level, where the air is not quite so balmy as in the fragrant orange groves of Redlands.

Onward still they went to Denver, where still more favorable impressions were received by the tourists. Thence to Chicago at the rate of sixty miles an hour. All told they had a most pleasant and profitable outing.

Mrs. R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Ia., writes. I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory cough cure I have ever used. O. D. Stevens.

COMPULSION GUIDE BOARDS
Wheelmen Are to Enforce the Law of the State.

The Wisconsin division of the L. A. W. is behind a movement to enforce the erection of guideboards throughout the state. Every rider who takes a trip into the country ought to take the time and trouble to note whether the guideboards are in place and in good condition and if not to see that they are made so. There is a state law which makes it compulsory on the chairman of town boards to look after and attend to such matter. The following circular has been sent to Local Consul J. G. DeLong.

"The laws of the state require that, 'The chairman of each town shall cause to be erected at the intersection within its town, of all main traveled roads, with other established roads, suitable guideboards, giving direction and distance from point of such intersection to adjoining or important towns; and shall keep in repair all boards erected, the expense to be paid from the treasury of the town. And every such chairman who neglects to erect or repair any guide board, after ten days' notice in writing has been personally served upon him stating that such guide-board has not been erected or that it is out of repair, shall for each month that elapses after said period of ten days, and for each instance of such neglect for such time, forfeit $5, one-half to go to the person making the complaint and the other half to the school fund.' That this law should be enforced, for the benefit of the touring wheelmen and the community at large, is obvious. Therefore, look into this matter in your town and surrounding country."

BELOIT DIDN'T LIKE THEIR WAYS.
Madison Boys Departed From Good Manners at the Line City.

The following contributed article appears in the Beloit Free Press: The citizens of Beloit have shown much just indignation at the riotous manner in which the Madison students conducted themselves on Saturday evening last after their humiliation on the diamond, and in justice to the University of Wisconsin it should be said that the men who made themselves so conspicuous by their drunken conduct and profane language on the athletic field, and who were later expelled from the opera house, were not a representative class of Madison students but were all members of one Greek letter fraternity which has lately entered the university. The university is not responsible for the conduct of this body of men who, at home and abroad, have repeatedly disgraced the school. The actions of these men are as repugnant to the university students as to the citizens of Janesville and Beloit, and it is unfortunate for the institution that such men can claim it as their alma mater.

GOLF IS POPULAR IN FRANCE.
Many Prominent Frenchmen Have Become Devoted to the Game.

The golf season has just ended with the games of the Dinard Club. The golf week at Dinard has nothing equivalent to it in the sporting world, except the races at Trouville. From Dinard, from St. Malo, from St. Servan, from Parame, from St. Lunatre, from Paris, and even from England, the Englishmen arrive to play or to be present at this brilliant autumn meeting. Not only do the English and American colonies of the Cote d'Emeraude furnish their contingent of fervent golf players, but also a number of families from across the water remain on the Malouin shore to be present at this new game. French sportsmen belonging to the region or ruralizing there make it a duty to follow the phases of the game, and even to take part in it.

For instance, last year Count Joseph Rochard won the Dinard challenge cup. Golf (pronounced "gulf" or "geulf") is a very old English game, which is somewhat like our ancient "soule." It made its first appearance in France at Dinard in 1890. Since then it has become the great fashionable game, and it is even expected that it will completely dethrone tennis, cricket, polo and other games in vogue. There are already four golf links established in France: At Pau, at Biarritz, at Cannes, where the Grand Duke Michael introduced it, and finally at Dinard. The golf links at Dinard are incontestably the best in France, according to the English professionals. Moreover, the thing which renders them unique in their kind, from the point of view of nature, is the great number of incomparable views which surround them and their position on the sea coast, in the midst of unequalled scenery.

HOLMES IN FEAR OF DEATH.

Condemned Monster Is Haggard as the End Draws Near.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 4.—Alone in his cell, surrounded by a mass of Sunday newspapers, without a single visitor to vary the monotony of the day, H. H. Holmes, the condemned murderer of one man and the suspected murderer of a score, spent his last Sunday on earth in his cell in Moyamensing prison. Even his spiritual adviser, Father Daily, was too busy to spend even a moment with him today. Beginning tomorrow he will spend an hour or two every day with the condemned man until the culmination on Thursday.

Although Holmes has apparently resigned himself to his fate, the prison officials are carefully watching to prevent him from cheating the gallows. The death watch is on. All day yesterday a watchman stood or sat within six feet of the cell watching the murderer's movements and curiously speculating on his condition of mind. Three times a day the cell is thoroughly searched to prevent any possible smuggling in of any poison or instrument or to break up any preparations that Holmes might by reason of his ingenious mind make for his own destruction. By day and night the watchman is always there, and whenever Holmes looks toward the door he sees the grievesome reminder of his doom. All this has apparently no effect on the condemned man.

ALL CAMPS COMING TO THE BIG PICNICWOODMAN'S COMMITTEE GET MANY LETTERS.

Several Delegations Will Come On Special Trains Headed By Bands of Music—Line of March to Be Short—Railroads Issue Much Advertising Matter.

Unless all signs fail, the picnic of the Modern Woodmen next month, will be the largest ever held, and will bring more people here on June 10 than the town ever had within its borders. The local committee are receiving many letters from the clerks of camps in other places, notifying them of the number to expect from their respective cities. President W. D. Hoard has written the committee that he will be here to preside. So far letters have been received from the following places, giving the number of visitors to expect.

Whitewater, Wis.—At least two thousand people, and perhaps more.

Elroy, Wis.—A special train load. Probably several hundred.

Waukesha, Wis.—A special train load of several hundred.

Marengo, Ill.—A special train load. Perhaps a thousand people.

Genoa, Ill.—Not less than five hundred "Neighbors."

Cedarsville, Ill.—A special train carrying several hundred people.

Brookfield, Wis.—At least one thousand people headed by a band of twenty-five pieces.

Beloit, Wis.—The two Beloit camps are jealous of the size of their respective delegations and more than a thousand Line City members are expected. Each camp is trying to outdo the other, and probably every member of the order, in that city will come. A band of twenty pieces will accompany the delegation.

The Imperial Guard, consisting of twenty-five pieces, has been hired by the local authorities for the day.

Many Circulars Mailed.

Thousands of circulars that speak well of Janesville, have been sent out by the railroad companies. The Northwestern line's letter says:

"This will undoubtedly be the largest picnic of any kind ever held in Wisconsin. The date set is favorable to all classes of business. Everything is being done to make it a grand success in every respect. We can take care of, and entertain 50,000 people. The railroad facilities are ample to provide for all. The fare on the railroads will be as low as any offered for any excursion, probably 80 per cent of one fare."

"There are over 80 good sized hotels, besides the various restaurants and lunch counters. There are also thirteen churches, and other societies, making twenty in all, who will serve meals, and can take good care of from 100 to 1,500 each. This gives an opportunity to each camp to be accommodated with meals and a headquarters, who wish, by making an early application. For those wishing to bring their own lunches, there are plenty of beautiful parks, and abundance of shade."

"The bands will all be taken care of by us, and fed at our expense. Bring large bands, as we can feed the better we will feed."

"The line of march will be very short, not to exceed twelve blocks; by so doing every member will join the parade, and not become fatigued by a long march."

St. Paul Company's Letter

The St. Paul company is also booming the picnic. A circular letter on the back of a map of their system says:

"The head officers, at least part of them will be present to address the assembly. Ex-Gov. W. D. Hoard, president of this association, will be present and have entire charge of the exercises."

"At the different parks there will be bicycle races, horse races, and a ball game. Up the river at the summer resorts, there will be different entertainments not yet definitely fixed."

"The program will begin early in the morning and so arranged, that every person can see all the entertainments if he wishes. Those wishing to remain in the evening will find plenty of amusements in dancing, theatre and fireworks."

"Do not let the railroads dictate when you will come or return. They are your servants, and your time must satisfy them."

The camp prize and band prize will be judged while passing in review. The competitive drill will take place later in the afternoon in front of the reviewing stand.

FOUR HUNDRED BALLOTS TAKEN

Edgerton Council Cannot Choose a City Marshal—Voted All Night

"Who will be the next city marshal of Edgerton?"

If you can tell, you can go up to that town and make all kinds of money.

For there are bets to be had.

And all sizes and kinds of 'em.

Nobody knows who the man will be.

The common council can't decide.

The aldermen balloted 399 times last night.

And then they balloted again.

With that they quit.

It was then 1:30 o'clock a. m.

But there was no choice.

The ballots all stood:

H. Henry 3, Ben Springer 2, and George Ogden 1.

It stood that way at the start.

And also at the finish.

They'll meet again Thursday night.

And they may take four hundred ballots more.

And perhaps without a choice.

Springer is the present marshal.

Two aldermen think he cannot be improved upon.

And four have a different opinion.

But he holds office until his successor is appointed.

Which may mean forever.

For men who cast four hundred ballots, all alike, do not often change their ideas.

It is a deadlock as is a deadlock.

PURSE RACES ONLY
WILL BE OPENEDCHANGE IN JULY MEETING PLANNED.

The Stakes Have Not Been Popular or Satisfactory to Either Association or Public—Dr. W. O. Coffee Owns Fancy Stock at Columbia, Tenn.—John Kelly's Good Stable.

The stake races offered for the July race meeting did not fill to the satisfaction of the association and were declared off. However, the dates are retained and purses to the amount of $15,000 will be offered, to close two weeks prior to the beginning of the meeting.

Perferring to wait until they see what their animals will be capable of before they spend any hard earned cash. Purse races have always called out larger fields on the Janesville track than stakes. Janesville has good dates this year, the meeting following Chicago, Freeport, Joliet, Peoria, etc. making an extra strong circuit.

DR. COFFEE Buys Trotter.

Dr. W. O. Coffee, formerly of this city, is running a big stock farm at Columbia, Tennessee. The Horse Review says.

"Dr. W. O. Coffee, of Columbus, has a sure enough pacer in a filly by Reflecto, 2:07, first dam by Tom Hal; second dam by Planedale, thoroughbred. It is a two-year-old and can show a three-minute clip at the trot also. Dr. Coffee has recently made arrangements with Gilbert W. Morton, of Jacksonville, Ill., to take charge of his training stable and Mr. Morton and his family have arrived. Mr. Morton has had ten years' experience in the training business, and has a local reputation around his native town for good training and driving. Dr. Coffee is building a good training track, will put up electric lights in his barns and will go more extensively into the breeding business. He has the blood of the best, and if intelligence, enthusiasm, fair dealings and means count, he will succeed."

JOHN KELLY's Good Stable.

John Kelly has an extra strong stable this year, headed by the great Direct, 2:05, who was driven to his record by Mr. Kelly while in the employ of M. Salisbury. Whether or not Direct is in shape for a campaign does not seem to be fully settled, but his owner, James Butler, the New York millionaire, has confidence in Kelly's judgment, and says that if Kelly thinks the great pacer is fit, he can take a shy at the world's pacing record. Mr. Kelly's stable is especially strong in the colt line, he having several Direct youngsters that good judges say will surely be heard from.

He will race his horses at the big Chicago meeting, and may decide to go after some of the Janesville money too. Mr. Kelly bought two horses at the Fasig sale at New York last week, they being Marie Janssen, 2:21, for whom he paid $525, and Miss Jay (1), $400.

Great things are expected of Soverhill & Porter's pacer, Hiabert Wilkes, and his expert driver, James Scott, has begun the racer's spring work on the Janesville track.

FOR ANOTHER'S SIN.

Sir Mortimer Barbican was an old man, one of the old types of English aristocrats—fiery, imperious and inordinately proud of the integrity of his name and ancestry. At the time I went into his employ, years ago now, he was living alone with his only daughter at his family seat in Gloucestershire.

A strange looking, tall lady was Miss Linda Barbican, with large, black eyes and pale, hard set features, bearing the traces of some inward sorrow.

Sir Mortimer, I learned, had had a son, whom he had disinherited and disowned, owing to some act which had brought dishonor on the name of Barbican, and he forbade all mention of the scapgeface of the family.

A young man, shabbily dressed, with a reckless albeit a handsome face, stood on the doorstep and scanned me nervously as I looked questioningly at him.

"Is my—is Sir Mortimer Barbican disengaged?" he asked huskily.

"Yes, sir," I answered. "Will you please come in?"

"Is there any one in the library?"

"No, sir."

"Then show me in and tell your master I must see him."

"Very well, sir! What name shall I give?"

"Oh, never mind the name! He'll know me fast enough," he added bitterly.

Sir Mortimer looked up in a surprised way when I communicated to him that a visitor had arrived and wished to see him. He opened the door and strode into the room.

"Father!"

That was all. One short, despairing cry, and father and son stood face to face once more.

A gray, drawn look stole over my master's face as for a brief moment he stood eying the prodigal who had so mysteriously reappeared. Then he found his tongue.

"So it is you, you hound!" he said, his features working strangely, while there was a tone of suppressed rage in his voice; "it is you, is it? Have you forgotten how we parted? Have you forgotten," his voice rising ominously, "how I cast you off and forbade you ever to step in my house again? Be off before I forget myself and whip you out, as you deserve."

"I will speak," cried the younger man. "As there is a God in heaven, I am innocent! But since you will not hear me, I will not try to save you. May it be on your own head, and may you reap as you have sown! But you will have the comforting assurance of knowing that you have sent me to the devil, and I curse you!" And, striding from the room, the younger man passed out into the hall.

I hastened to open the door for him. As he was passing out into the night he turned.

"You are a stranger to me," he said, after a brief space, "but your face looks like an honest one. If you can contrive it, meet me tomorrow, about this time, at the drive gate. It is a matter of life and death."

The next morning after breakfast Sir Mortimer turned to me and said:

"If you value your situation here, Parkin, you will bear this in mind: Not a word of what you saw and heard last night, and never mention my—son's name to me again under pain of instant dismissal. That is all."

It was with some feeling of trepidation that I repaired to the trysting place that same evening to await the arrival of the disinherited son. Having inquired my name, he began:

"You must first know how I came to be in this plight. Some years ago a forged check in my father's name was discovered. Suspicion at once fell on me, and, though innocent, I was at once branded as guilty by my father. He did not wish to have the family name dragged into court, so he took the easier course of disinheriting me and casting me off entirely. My enemy, whoever he was—and heaven knows I thought I had none worth speaking of—had done his work well. I became a frequenter of the turf, a gambler, and nearly—but, thank heaven, not quite—a thief. I was tempted some few weeks ago to join a band of burglars who contemplated robbing my father's house. But though I had sunk low I was not quite bad enough for that, and, overcome with remorse, I determined to seek an audience with my father and warn him of his danger. The result of that interview you know, and—"

Here he broke off abruptly, a queer break in his voice.

I will pass over the rest of our conversation and merely state the plan which the remorse stricken man had formed to checkmate the robbers.

I must explain that at the back of the house was a courtyard, shut in on three sides by the kitchen premises of the house. It was a small window—that of the pantry—which was to be the mode of ingress. Young Mr. Geoffrey—that was the son's name—was to lead the burglars in their enterprise. He would conduct them through the window; and then, with the aid of myself and Sir Mortimer, whom I was to apprise of the robbers' advent, would help to overpower the others, two desperadoes, for they had not wished to have too many

Friday came, and it was, I am bound to confess, with no slight feelings of apprehension that I looked forward to the work which was before me, for I was no fighting man. Of course I had not mentioned the meditated robbery to the baronet, for that would have spoiled everything.

At 12 o'clock I stole noiselessly down to the kitchen and quietly waited till the burglars should arrive. I had not long to wait. I heard the muffled sound which warned me that they had commenced operations, and, slipping away as noiselessly as I had come, I departed to apprise my master of the outrage on his property.

I found him sitting in his bedroom on a chair, clad in his dressing gown and slippers. His face was buried in his hands, and he was evidently lost in thought. At my entrance he started violently up and gazed with wonderment, not unmixed with anger, at me, as I intruded myself on his solitude. I at once came to the point.

"Sir," I said, "there are burglars trying to force an entrance at the back."

Now my master's bedroom was at the extreme wing of the building, so that had it not been for the fact that I already knew of the contemplated robbery he would probably have heard nothing of the burglars, taking for granted that they succeeded in reaching the dining room, where the family plate—their object—was secured.

He gazed at me curiously for a few seconds and then calmly walked across the room to his chest of drawers, which he opened, taking therefrom a small revolver, which he slipped into his pocket, handing another to me at the same time.

Sir Mortimer took the lead, and, following close behind him, I noiselessly stole along at his heels. Arrived at the kitchen door, the sounds inside told us we had come at the right moment. The baronet threw open the door. The gas had been lighted, and standing in the middle of the room were the three men, young Mr. Geoffrey, apart from the other two, pallid and haggard looking.

And then I do not rightly know what happened, it was all done so quickly.

Sir Mortimer, stepping calmly into the room, raised his revolver and fired at his son, who was waiting for me, who had lost all presence of mind, to act on the initiative. With a groan he threw up his arms and fell forward with a dull thud on the stone floor. The other two did not wait for more, but with incredible swiftness darted through the pantry, and, locking the door behind them, made good their escape.

Just then a white robed figure appeared at the open kitchen door and gazed wildly about her. As her eyes fell on the body of the man lying prone and lifeless on the floor Miss Linda Barbican, for it was she, rushed forward and with a moan threw herself down beside her brother, apparently dead, killed by his father!

"My sin has found me out!" she moaned. "My sin has found me out!" And then, her eyes wandering to the little pool of blood which was crimsoning the cold flags, she cried out: "I can bear it no longer! Father, father, the forgery was my work!"

Casting one look of concentrated hate and anguish on the wretched girl at his feet, he brushed her tremblingly aside and knelt down, moaning softly to himself, beside the body of his apparently lifeless son.

Mr. Geoffrey did not die. His father had shot somewhat high, and the ball had glanced along the collar bone, making a long, jagged wound. But still he was seriously ill, brain fever setting in afterward, and for some time he lay hovering between life and death.

I explained fully to the baronet the scheme his son had formed for thwarting the burglars, who, by the way, were captured some weeks after the attempted burglary, and Sir Mortimer's feelings of remorse and sorrow at the way in which he had wronged Mr. Geoffrey were terribly poignant.

As for Miss Linda, her story can be briefly summed up in the following: Years ago she had a worthless lover, with whom she was completely infatuated. Gambling and other forms of excess left him in low water, and his sweetheart had forged the check to give him the money he had needed so sorely, laying the blame on and weaving her subtle net of accusation around her innocent brother. What ultimately became of her I never knew.

If I had only kept my presence of mind and carried out my instructions, the baronet's hand might have been staid and Mr. Geoffrey would not have been shot. But then perhaps Miss Linda would not have confessed. Thank heaven, there are not many women like her in the world.—Chicago News.

Here are some of the questions which a new insurance company requires to be answered satisfactorily, and the public will agree that there is more reason for them than many of the old queries:

"Do you ride a bicycle? Single or tandem?"

"Do you eat (a) hot cakes, (b) tamales, (c) mince pie, (d) welsh rabbit, (e) raw onions?"

"Do you swallow grape seeds?"

"Do you drink any mixed drinks?"

"Do you ever sleep in a folding bed?"

"Do you smoke (a) cigarettes, (b) nickel cigars?"

"Have you a mother-in-law?"

"Did you ever attempt suicide?"—San Francisco Post.

Deaths Due to Chloroform.

It is stated that 61 deaths have occurred within the past year in the United Kingdom, of which 52 were from the administration of chloroform. This would be a fearful indictment against the use of that anesthetic if we only knew what was the relative proportion of patients submitted to its influence and to the influence of other anesthetics. In other words, if the number of chloroform cases were 52 times the number of nitrous oxide cases, chloroform would be no more dangerous, although it might have caused 52 deaths for one death caused by the latter anesthetic.—Medical Press.

UNSEATED BY A GIRL.

Traveler on "L" Road Compelled to Yield His Place.

"I never get up to give my seat in the 'L' cars at night," says Thompson. "Why should I? I am as tired as any of those blamed women, and I pay my five cents for a seat—if I can get one." Thompson was wrapped in his paper the other evening, with a crowd of people standing along the aisle, looking at him enviously as he leaned back in his seat. It was snowing hard, and many of the passengers were wet. Immediately in front of Thompson stood a tall girl, with a mischievous gleam in her eyes and a hat with a brim turned up at the sides on her head. She wanted Thompson's seat, but she could see there was little chance of getting it. "I'll let him know I'm here, anyhow," she said to the girl with her, with a sly smile.

Thompson was deep in his paper, and appeared to be unconscious of the presence of the girl, although she stepped upon his foot and rustled his paper with the bottom of her wrap. Then she took damper measures. The snow in the hollow brim of her hat had melted, and she bent over Thompson, so that a stream of water ran upon his paper and emptied itself into his vest pocket.

Thompson uttered a prayer for the innocent young girl, and then she turned the other side to him, so that the water from the opposite side of her hat would go down to the paper. "Slash-squizzle-dumfounder, what-a-bells-an-blazes!" yated Thompson, involuntarily, as he leaped from his seat.

"Oh, don't let me deprive you of your seat. You must be tired!" purred the demure maiden, as she winked again at her friend, with the eye that was furthest away from Thompson. But Thompson never looked at her as she dropped into his seat with a sigh of content.—New York Press.

MARASCHINO PUNCH.

It Is Affiliated to Nectar and Is Appropriate for Luncheons.

For luncheons which have lighter courses than dinners liquid appetizers are appropriate, and the various "arrangements" of liqueurs with orange or grape fruits are considered delicious.

One of these is known as maraschino punch and is prepared in the following manner: Select as many large oranges as the number of guests require, and prepare them by giving each one a transverse cut, about half an inch from the top. The interior and this sliced part also are then nicely scooped out and the pulp is pressed into a sieve until the juice is all extracted. This is sweetened to taste and weakened with a little water, until a strong orangeade is made. Into this is finally poured a sufficient quantity of maraschino to flavor the mixture agreeably, and the empty oranges are filled with it. Two straws are then prettily tied to the tops by narrow ribbons drawn through two punctures. These ribbons must match the other decorations of the table, and harmonize as well with the color of the oranges themselves. When the cap is fitted again they are ready for serving.

They may be prevented from upsetting and spilling the contents by being put in paper cases upon small decorated plates.—New York Advertiser.

The Gum Chews' Prox.

It would be hard to surpass the gentle humor of the following primary schoolma'am's story: "Maggie came into school after recess recently, chewing vigorously," she began. "I thought that perhaps she was finishing an apple or a piece of candy, so I did not say anything to her. I happened to look in Maggie's direction about half an hour afterward and noticed that the masticating process was going on as hard as ever. Of course I immediately jumped to the conclusion that she was chewing that children's delight and teacher's horror—gum. I called Maggie up to my desk and accused her of chewing gum. She denied it at once. She stopped chewing but had no time to remove the gum, for I watched her closely as she came up to my desk from her seat. I spoke rather sharply to her and she finally broke down and commenced to cry: 'I was only minding it for Katie Jones,' she sobbed."

Brave Deed of the War.

At the battle of Franklin, at a critical juncture, when the Union center was broken and the Confederates, greatly superior in numbers, had gained such advantage that annihilation or capture seemed inevitable, when there was left only one small chance of driving the rebels back and holding the center, Major-General D. S. Stanley rode in front of Updike's brigade, and, restoring confidence in the men, led them to the assault. The struggle was furious and terrible. Men fought with bayonets and with the stocks of their guns. The gallant Stanley was in the midst of it all, and his courageous bearing and indomitable will so enthused his men that they fought like very demons. The enemy was driven back, the line re-established and the day saved.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Slight Mistake.

"I didn't know you were so accomplished a linguist," he remarked as he glanced at the paper she was reading. "I don't make any pretensions in that direction," she answered.

"But that is a Russian newspaper you have picked up."

"Why, so it is," she answered, in surprise. "I thought it was a dialect story."—Washington Star.

AMERICAN COMMERCIAL POLICY.

The Holding of a Pan-American Congress Approved in the South.

Citizens of Florida who have been holding at Jacksonville, in that state, a convention to indorse and urge action in favor of the construction of the Nicaragua ship canal, took action in favor of an unflinching maintenance by the government of a distinctive American policy, says the New York Picayune.

Besides the demand for the canal, the convention favored an early reassembling of a pan-American congress to formulate means intended to produce the permanent peace, independence and prosperity in and to protect all American territories from foreign invasion, interference or control; to promote commercial intercourse and connection between the republics and the territory allied thereto, as well as the promotion of adequate banking and exchange facilities and commercial and business relations to the end that all American republics may reap the full benefit of the various resources and industries to their betterment, now so largely directed into foreign hands.

Congress should take the cue. Now is the time to take such action as will secure a proper hold upon the commerce of Central and South America, and this can only be done by close trade association by means of ample transportation and banking facilities. For this country to assert a political American policy, and not to follow it up by a corresponding commercial policy, mutually beneficial to all the American countries, would be the height of absurdity.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT UNDERHILL TODAY.

William Gerndt Is Drowned While His Companions Escape Death—Rioting at Milwaukee—Ruling of Insurance Board Rescinded—Potatoeats at One Cent a Bushel at Plainfield

Underhill, Wis., May 6—[Special]—While William Gerndt and three companions were crossing the Oconee river today, the raft broke in two and the men were thrown into the water. Gerndt sank and was drowned, while the others reached shore in safety.

In Favor of Acetylene Gas. Milwaukee, May 6.—The Wisconsin board of underwriters has rescinded its adverse action in regard to the use of acetylene gas and at its recent meeting unanimously voted to give the new illuminant favorable consideration. It is claimed that this gas will displace the use of gasoline for stationary engines, stoves for heating and cooking and for portable lighting of all kinds, giving the general public who have no city gas a better light and removing danger of fire risks which are incident to the present forms of lighting from either gasoline or kerosene oil. It is also expected that its introduction will reduce the insurance risk.

Lynchers' Hemp that Failed. Williamstown, Ky., May 6.—News has reached here of the hanging of Dr. Forrell, at Elliston, Ky., last night by a mob. Forrell has the reputation of a wife-beater. He came home drunk and whipped his wife. Last night a mob was organized and he was hanged to a limb. He was discovered later by some boys and cut down before life was extinct. He will recover.
